Among the city's top destinations "for all things cheesy", this West Village "mecca" – "complete with worshipping crowds" – lays out a "ridiculously expansive" lactic array "from Abondance to Zamorano" plus "fabulous" charcuterie and deli items, pastas, bread, nuts, chocolates and more; patrons praise "patient", "knowledgeable" staffers (they're "generous with the samples") and cite the in-house "caves", "classroom" and catering menu as more reasons to ignore your "cardiologist" and sing "cheese, glorious cheese"; P.S. the smaller Grand Central annex is a boon to fromage-seeking "commuters."
