For Cheddar or for Worse

Usually the cheesiest thing at a wedding reception is the Electric Slide, but apparently cheese cakes are catching on. And we don't mean cheesecake, we mean cakes made out of cheese—whole wheels of it. Murray's Cheese Shop in New York City (254 Bleecker St.; 888-692-4339) reports that orders have been trickling in, following a trend that started in England a few years ago. The cost depends on the cheese you pick—we built this one to feed 220 guests at $6 a head; crackers not included.

Check out this cheesy wedding cake. Then, judge a potato salad face-off, put saltines to new use and try our low-fat corn dogs...
